

PUSHKIN STATE MUSEUM OF FINE ARTS

MOSCOW

invites you to attend the INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE in commemoration of the

160th anniversary of VLADIMIR GOLENISHEV' birthday

February 01. – 02. 2016

Vladimir Golenishev (Saint-Petersburg, 1856 – Nice, 1947) was a prominent Russian Egyptologist and Orientalist who gathered a brilliant collection of Oriental antiquities (about 7000 objects). In 1909 Golenishev sold his collection to the State Museum of Fine Arts (now Moscow Pushkin Museum). Among the masterpieces of this assemblage are the portrait of Amenemhat III, reliefs from the tomb of Izi, the papyrus of Unu-Amun, and Fayum portraits.

Conference will cover a wide range of questions concerning History, Art and Philology of Ancient Egypt and Near East.

The problems to discuss will be as follows:

History and Philology of Ancient Egypt and Near East

Ancient Egyptian Art and Religion

Museums and private Collections of Egyptian and Oriental antiquities

Attribution of museum's objects

Museology studies

The participation in the conference is free. Participants make their own arrangements. The Pushkin Museum can provide a visa support. The conference materials are intended to be published.

During the conference a special exhibition will be opened presenting two sculptures of the king Amenemhat III (from Moscow and Saint-Petersburg).
